FABRIC FINISHING

Some examples of fabric finishes include:
- Jacquard
- Quilting
- Embroidery
- Suede
- Chenille
- Velveteen
- Leather

In the manufacturing process, fabric finishes are added after the fabric is produced. These finishes can include:
- Dyeing
- Printing
- Embroidery
- Quilting
- Suede finishing
- Chenille
- Velveteen
- Leather

The process of applying these finishes to fabric involves:
- Preparing the fabric
- Applying the finish
- Curing the finish
- Testing the finished product

In the end, the finished fabric is ready for use in clothing, home decor, or other applications.

FINISHED FABRICS

Most fabrics are now available in a variety of finishes, allowing for endless possibilities in design and functionality. Whether you need something soft and comfortable, durable and stain-resistant, or something that stands out for its unique texture or color, there is a fabric finish for you.